

Light fantastic!

When the lights go on it is easy to see the world's cities – the brightest areas are the most urbanized. At night their lights outline most of the continents when viewed from space. These images are composites of hundreds of pictures made by orbiting satellites.